California homecare workers, seniors, and people with disabilities are speaking up for quality care and a better future.

HOMECARE WORKERS AND CLIENTS DESERVE JUSTICE:

- Over 460,000 seniors and people with disabilities receive support through California's In-Home Supportive Services (IHSS) program.
- IHSS clients have had their hours of support cut, despite a multi-billion dollar budget surplus.
- Many homecare workers make minimum wage, and most do not get any sick days, vacation time, health care, or retirement benefits.
- 90% of all homecare workers are women and 73% are people of color.
